Judge Stanley has granted a divorce in the case of Irene Long against Carlos Long. This case is a sequel to the suit for damages of Mr. Long against W. H. Cornwell, Jr., which is now pending in the Courts and in which the plaintiff complains of the defendant alienating the affections of his wife.

Miss Mary Low who during the past few years has had charge of the ladies' delivery window at General Post Office has resigned her position. Miss Low will be missed greatly at the Post Office where she has become very popular with the public through her affable manners and constant courtesy. It is understood that Miss Low has accepted a position in the office of attorney J. A. Magoon, where she will be followed by the best wishes for future success of her numerous friends.

WAR AGAIN.

A Strong Military Drama To-morrow Evening

"Held by the Enemy" the play that commences the last week of the Frawley engagement is written around an incident of the late civil war. The hero and heroine go through a great deal of trouble but but come out of it all right in the end. It is a stirring war play and will be mounted as elaborately as "Shenandoah." The bombardment of Richmond is the work of a masterhand.

At the Frawleys

There were two good and well patronized performances at Frawleys on Saturday. The great unknown was well received by a large audience of youngsters who attended the matinee and the play was cleverly presented.

In the evening the "Fatal Card" was the play and it was beyond comparison the best performance of this season. The audience liked it and deserved praise and applause were showered on all who took a part.

To-morrow evening "Held by the Enemy" a war play will be given.

A ROUGH TRIP.

Serious Experiences of the Visitors to Molokai

The Board of Health had announced that the regular trip of its officials and those invited would take place last week, and on Friday evening the steamer Noeau left port carrying 52 passengers for Kalaupapa, the port of the leper settlement on Molokai.

After a pleasant run to the "silent" island the steamer encountered a heavy swell. When anchored off Kalaupapa the danger of landing was fully realized. Secretary Wilcox of the Health Board, and Mr. Bruns, a visitor to the settlement, went ashore but the pranks of the boat which carried them, did not encourage the people on board the steamer to follow their lead.

The Noeau steamed to Waikolu where President Smith and Deputy Marshal Hitchcock effected a landing and whence Wilcox was picked up. A return to Kalaupapa was made, and as the sea apparently had calmed somewhat several attempts to land were made. Some boats landed by skillful maneuvering. A boat in which were W. O. Smith and R. H. Hitchcock had a narrow escape from being swamped, and the two officials were landed on terra firma, another illustration of the truth of the old adage referring to drowning and hanging.

The venture of another boat met with a result that caused great danger to life but fortunately did not end fatally. The boat in which were, besides the crew, Captain Peterson, Purser Kelly and Miss Carrol was swamped at the wharf and the purser and Miss Carrol were pinned underneath the capsize boat. People from shore succeeded in righting the boat in time to save Miss Carrol from an untimely death. Purser Kelly was badly bruised and two men of the crew were injured.

The party succeeded in boarding the steamer without further accidents and without having much of a chance to see the settlement. The indefatigable Smith rushed on to Kalawao and returned to Kalaupapa in time to catch the steamer. His Excellency attributes rough weather and unpleasant accidents to the fact that he had no newspaper men in the party. He is right. We have got to be there to keep him and even the ocean straight.

It was a happy crowd which was landed in Honolulu yesterday. Applications for permits to visit Molokai will be rare in the future.

Musical Entertainment.

Miss Cordelia Clymer has issued invitations for Wednesday evening next at 8 o'clock, to a musical entertainment to be given at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, in honor of her friend Mr. Calvin F. Lampert. As will be seen the program is a most delightful one and the artists assisting hold a most favored position in their noble profession.

A Jolly Picnic.

Mrs. J. H. Boyd last Saturday entertained Princess Kaiulani and a number of friends at Waoala, the beautiful Maoua residence of Col. J. H. Boyd.

The eighteen invited guests went up together on horseback gaily decorated with leis, and the Princess thoroughly enjoyed the excursion which reminded her of days gone by when she and her calvarcade galloped over the roads of Hawaii.

At Waoala the party was entertained right royally. Merriment reigned at the bountiful feast in the handsomely decorated lanai. A string band was in attendance and the young people naturally indulged in dancing for a few hours. At dusk the return to the city was made and the party dispersed after having enjoyed one of the most successful picnics given here.

The Aorangi Comes and Goes.

The R. M. S. Aorangi whose arrival had been expected for two days arrived in port yesterday morning and sailed for Vancouver in the evening. She brought no passenger for this port. The following is the report of the Aorangi's purser: The R. M. S. Aorangi, Campbell Hepworth, commander, left Sydney on 8th November for Wellington, N. Z., which port was reached on 13th November. Left again on 14th and arrived at Suva on the 19th. Left Suva same day and arrived at this port on the 28th inst., at 12 o'clock noon. Fine weather has been experienced on the voyage. Mr. Churchill, late U. S. Consul at Samoa, and family left by her as his services are required in Washington.

Upapa Sentenced.

Judge Perry on Saturday sentenced Upapa, one of the men connected with the Kauai murder, to imprisonment at hard labor for three years. Upapa was found guilty by the jury of being an accessory after the fact. Mr. Rosa, his attorney will not appeal from the verdict.

Mr. Robertson's clients Kapea and Kaio were not sentenced owing to the statutory limitation. The attorney argued that sentence could not be suspended to another term, but was overruled by Judge Perry and an exception from the ruling to the Supreme Court taken.

Death of Alvin Raseman.

After a serious illness Alvin H. Raseman succumbed on Saturday morning at the residence of his wife's father, Mr. John Nott. H. Raseman was well-known and well liked here. He was very prosperous in his profession as a book binder for many years and was identified with the fire department and other popular organizations. His unassuming manners and modest ways made him numerous friends who regret his early death. He was born in Michigan 36 years ago and leaves a wife and child. The funeral which was largely attended took place yesterday.
